

Q. 1.A) Read the given extract and complete the activity given below:

(12 Marks)

1] Arrange the following ideas in order to occurrence as given in the passage.

- (a) Her husband encouraged her when she would be nervous.
- (b) The job needs both strength and courage especially for a woman.
- (c) She owes a lot of her success to her husband
- (d) Joycee would handle the pump meter very carefully

Joycee is not only beautiful, but bold too. A bright eyed, slim and smart, she is the first woman in the city to work at the petrol pump! With a warm and welcoming smile on her pretty face, she performs her job with zeal and enthusiasm.

One after another vehicles stop in front of her “ kitna dalna hai”? She asks very confidently and then.....on goes the pump meter. Her eyes reverted on the meter, she is quick and careful enough to stop it as soon as it reaches the right figure. Simple though it may seem, the job needs both strength and courage especially for a woman; strength for it is a continuous and tiring job without any rest, except for a short lunch break and courage because she is working in an exclusively male dominated domain!

It was her husband who encouraged her to take up the job, after reading an advertisement in a local daily for a woman petrol pump worker. Even during those days when Joycee was disappointed, he motivated her to continue. “Ignore them and continue your work”, was his gentle advice. Joycee remembers these encouraging words of her husband, to whom she owes a lot of her success.
